KIOS A flagship European Center of Excellence - the 1st in Cyprus

The KIOS Research Center at the University of Cyprus has been selected to receive funding from the European Union to advance into a Center of Excellence and Innovation. This is the largest and most competitive funding to be secured for research and innovation in Cyprus. Through the Teaming project, the KIOS Research Center will receive total funding in excess of € 40 million. This includes € 15 million funding (seed funding) by the European Commission and a substantial co-financing amount from national resources over a fifteen year period. In this endeavor KIOS has as an invaluable partner Imperial College London Read more…..
